What do I want to be?

Choosing a future profession is so important for everyone. But we should go a long way before we've made right decision.

As for me, there were a lot of propositions.

In my childhood I wanted to be a singer.

After it I thought about the career of journalist.

Next occupation was a film maker.

So today I'd like to try myself in the role of lawyer.

And I still don't know that one will be as a result.

What do I want to do for last years of my life?

So I'd like to:

fall asleep under the stars

turn off my phone for the whole day or a week

skydive

buy some expensive things

travel a lot and so on

My place in this world

There are more than 7 billion people on the planet Earth. And everyone from them is special. Of course, it's difficult to save selfhood among our population.

And in spite of all hardships, we can make this world better just being in it. The example for this meaning is notable people who became well-known thanks their talents, tenacity and hard working.

What about me, I believe that I'll do something for this world in the future. I have no idea what it'll be but my living won't be a mistake.
