

I am proud to be Ukrainian

By Liubov Boichuk

What concerns scientific potential of my country, the representatives of Ukraine participated in NASA discoveries (Leonid Kadeniuk, Yuriy Gagarin), were influential people in international scientific organizations. In todays epoch of IT and programming Ukrainians are known as advanced and qualified programmers, animators, web-designers etc. To prove these facts, Ukraine is officially considered to be the most educated country in Europe. Almost everyone has a higher education and 30% of educated people have a PhD degree.

I am really proud of being Ukrainian and a compatriot of those people I've mentioned as well.

So, what do I, personally, do to make Ukraine a better place to live?

First of all, I realize the importance of participating in the life of country, discovering some issues and finding a solution to them. As an illustration, I am aware of some ecological problems in Ukraine. To reduce them I participate in volunteer movements within my region. I am also a deputy of Head of Kosiv Youth Council and now I am preparing a project on recycling wastepaper and implementing charity clothing distribution points of utilized clothes. I strongly believe that I can improve the lives not only of the people of my region, but the citizens of Ukraine as well. I deem, another people will follow my example and together we are capable of changing the world.

Nevertheless... I consider myself the citizen of the world. Frankly, I am sure that all the world is my home and I don't want to be related to the only one or two countries. I feel that my way is unique and I am an important person for the all world. Thus, my stance is: I was born in Ukraine and I am proud of my country and I feel glory about being Ukrainian, however, subliminally or not, I feel that I am the citizen of the world.

Thank you for attention!
