Lord, save our soldiers!!!

Today, at this difficult time, we would like to thank all the soldiers who are defending our country. The Ukrainian army was reborn in the conditions of war, passed numerous tests and broke the enemies. Dear soldiers, thank you for a peaceful sleep and sky, for your courage, for being you. We are grateful that you are saving so many lives. Now we see the real heroes who will be told to the children later.

Every ukrainian looks at your losses with pain in heart , but each of us is proud of your small victories over the enemy. Remember, that you have support from the whole world.

You are the best, so the victory will be ours. We believe in you. You are our heroes and everything will be Ukraine

Hi! Welcome to my page

My name is Maryna Kakhnikevych and here you can see general information about me:

- I am 17 years old. I live in a small town Kutu, located near the heart of Carpathian mountains
- My family isn't large. It consists of a father Yaroslav, a mother Zoia and a sister Khrystyna.

Projects, Blogs... It's so amazing!!!

At the moment I am a pupil of the 11th form. It is the final part of my school life and then I am going to pass NMT and enter the university

I've already chosen the faculty and university where I want to study. So in future I would like to work as a dentist. This sphere is really interesting for me and I think it will have great opportunities at all times

- That's why I hope my page will be useful for those, who also want to master this profession. I know that getting knowlege in medical university won't be easy at all.

- But I clearly know why I choose this specialty, so I will confidently step towards my goal experience

- So I plan to post here different posts and links that may be useful. I also want to share my emotions and experience during the academic year

The next side from which I want to describe myself is my hobby

In free time from studying and household duties, I like to watch movies and series. My favourite ones are "1+1" and "Island of the damned".

One more way how I usually spend my spare time is reading books. Unfortunately, I haven't enough time to read additional literature now, but in summer I want to resume reading again.

So from time to time you will see here my personal list of recommendations about films and books

I also want to develop in my character such features as: flexibility, patience and openness

So in conclusion I'd like to say that I need to work really hard in order to be happy, successful and make all my dreams come true.

It's all for now. I was glad to introduce myself to you.

17 Things I've realized in 17 years (V. Levko)

17 things that I realized for myself in 17 years

1. It is not necessary to take into account the opinion of others. As soon as I stopped thinking about what people would think about me, my life became easier.
2. You don't need to complain to others about your problems. Everyone has enough of their own problems to fill their heads with yours
3. You need to be self-confident. This is attractive in people.
4. It's really cool to read. You can learn so many interesting things and at the same time improve your vocabulary
5. Music can be therapy
6. You need to drink a lot of water. It is very healthy for the body
7. You don't need to get attached to people.
8. Being able to defend your personal boundaries is a great skill
9. Sometimes it is better to remain silent
10. There are no perfect people
11. When meeting new people, you don't have to pretend to be someone you're not. Let people see the real you
12. If you are afraid to do something new or need to make a difficult choice: to do or not to do, better do it. Because if you make a mistake, it will be an experience, and if you don't, you will regret it
13. You don't have to try to please everyone. It is not real
14. Life is one. And you need to appreciate every moment
15. There is no need to compare yourself with others. You just need to constantly develop
16. There is no shame in admitting your mistakes and shortcomings. It is worse to make yourself perfect
17. A black streak doesn't last forever. Someday it will be white
